RUTLAND COUNTY COUNCIL ENFORCEMENT POLICY

1.0 INTRODUCTION

1.1 Rutland County Council has the responsibility and power to enforce breaches of planning control. The decision to enforce in each case is at our discretion. The power to correct breaches of planning control allows us to protect the quality of life for the people who live, work and visit Rutland and the quality of the county's built and natural environment. This planning enforcement policy explains the planning enforcement service and what you can expect from it. Specifically it covers:

- What is a breach of planning control;
- How you can request an investigation;
- How we prioritise investigations;
- How we will carry out an investigation and how we will keep you informed;
- What you can do if a request for an investigation is made about your development; and
- The enforcement actions we can consider.

1.2 Trees that are subject to a Tree Preservation Order or are within a Conservation Area are included within this policy. However, there is separate legislation and an application process to deal with issues concerning the impact of high hedges on neighbours. The enforcement policy does not relate to high hedges. If you have a query concerning high hedges please read our documents; 'A guide to the New High Hedges Legislation' and 'High Hedges – Criteria for resolving disputes', which are available on our website: Make a High Hedge Complaint

2.0 THE PRINCIPLES OF GOOD ENFORCEMENT

- 2.1 We follow the Government's Concordat on the Principles of Good Enforcement Practice as outlined below.
- 2.2 Standards: to publish clear standards of service and performance through this enforcement policy.
- 2.3 Openness: to provide information and advice in plain language on the rules, and discuss problems with anyone experiencing difficulties either because of a breach of planning or as the result of an investigation. We will not normally make personal details available, such as a name, telephone number or address (see Section 3), but our decision-making processes will be transparent to make sure that everyone has confidence in the service.
- 2.4 Helpfulness: to work with all parties to resolve investigations without formal action if practicable. We will tell you who is dealing with the investigation and how you can contact them. We will give explanations for the actions we take and any rights of appeal.
- 2.5 Consistency: to carry out duties in a fair, just and consistent manner taking into account the particular aspects of each case. When we decide whether to take enforcement action, we must consider meeting the objectives and policies of the development plan and other material considerations. This seeks to make sure that development does not take place in inappropriate locations. Each decision will also take into account the particular circumstances of the site and surrounding area; level of harm being caused; and any relevant planning history, such as previous refusals or grants of planning permission or appeals for similar developments
- 2.6 Proportionality: to take action, when it is necessary, in relation to the risks posed and the seriousness of the breach. Some incidents or breaches of regulatory requirements have the potential to cause serious risk to public health and safety, environmental damage or loss of public or residential amenity. One of the Council's responsibilities is to protect the public and prevent harm to the environment from occurring or continuing. There may be occasions when the breach of regulations will justify action. Any such action will only be taken in accordance with the law, and after due consideration has been given to any Convention Rights, under the Human Rights Act 1998 and the Equality Act 2010 that may be affected by such action. However, our resources are limited, and it is essential to use available resources to maximum effect. In planning terms, this means where there is the most harm to amenity or the environment. Our decisions are not based on who is complaining or how loudly.
- 2.7 Complaints about the Service: to provide well-publicised, effective and timely procedures, and explain our complaints procedure.

3.0 WHAT IS A BREACH OF PLANNING CONTROL?

- 3.1 There are certain breaches of planning control that constitute criminal acts from the outset. Such breaches include:
- unauthorised work to a listed building;
 - unauthorised demolition of an unlisted building in a Conservation Area;
 - unauthorised works to “protected” trees; or
 - unauthorised advertisements.
- 3.2 It is not an offence to undertake development without firstly obtaining planning permission. However, if enforcement action is taken against unauthorised development and the requirements of an enforcement notice are not satisfied within the specified period, an offence has then occurred, which can be pursued in the Court. Because planning enforcement operates to protect the public interest rather than the interest of one particular individual, there are certain issues that we cannot take into account. For example:
- loss of value to property;
 - competition with other businesses;
 - rights to a view;
 - trespass; or
 - breaches of covenant.
- 3.3 These are not planning matters and therefore are not included in any assessment of harm. The test of a breach is how much harm it causes. Harm from breaches of planning control takes many different forms, including the following:
- impact on visual or residential amenity;
 - impact on highway safety;
 - loss of amenity for the public in general;
 - loss of amenity for occupiers and users of surrounding land; and buildings or on the environment in general.
- 3.4 There may be damage to the area’s historic buildings and environment through, for example, unauthorised work to listed buildings, or failure to comply with the conditions attached to consent. The demolition of an unlisted building in a Conservation Area can also cause harm. Harm can similarly occur if unauthorised development undermines the policies of our Development Plan, or could set a precedent which, if repeated, would undermine the policies of the Development Plan. An example could be a new house in the countryside.
- 3.5 The local environment can also be harmed by not taking action, just as much as actively undertaking unauthorised works. Where land or buildings are neglected their condition can adversely affect the amenity of the area.

4.0 HOW YOU CAN REPORT A POTENTIAL BREACH

- 4.1 We prefer you to report potential breaches in writing to the Planning Department. This can be done using the Enforcement Complaint Form on the Councils website. Sometimes, for example where someone is doing unauthorised work to a listed building, it may be necessary for you to telephone us during office hours. We will ask you to identify yourself and give contact details so that we can keep you informed in writing at key stages. We will consider anonymous requests for investigations; however, anonymous reports often do not give us enough information. Therefore looking into anonymous requests for investigations will be at the Council's discretion.
- 4.2 It is our policy not to reveal the identity of the informant, or information which is likely to reveal the identity of an informant to an alleged offender. We may be asked to reveal the identity of an informant under the Data Protection Act 1998, but we will always apply the rights of the individual in accordance with that Act and any other appropriate legislation.
- 4.3 Whilst you can write, email or telephone us with a complaint we would prefer it if you could use the online form, as this is the most cost effective option for the Council.
- 4.4 In addition you may wish to notify your local County Councillor, or Parish Council. Through whatever route you request your investigation; it helps if you provide us with as much information as possible about your concerns, particularly:
- the name and address of the alleged contravener;
 - the location of the site;
 - what has happened; the length of time it has been happening and an indication of whether it is still continuing;
 - an explanation of the harm that it is causing to you specifically, your neighbours or the area generally; and
 - what you consider would be a satisfactory outcome.

5.0 HOW WE PRIORITISE COMPLAINTS

- 5.1 The Council's resources are limited. It is therefore necessary to target available resources to have the maximum effect. In planning terms this means where there is the most harm to amenity or the environment, not necessarily a response to who is complaining or how vociferously.
- 5.2 The Council has an Enforcement Prioritisation Scheme (Appendix 1) for enforcement complaints.
- 5.3 The Council has established a set of priorities to reflect the importance it places on the quality of life for its residents and businesses, and the need to protect the special character of the built and natural environment of the County. The categories are intended as a set of guiding principles, rather than attempting to list every possible eventuality.
- 5.4 Regardless of who has made the complaint we will assign it a priority category. Prioritisation of the complaint then sets a performance standard for the first visit.
- 5.5 Priority 1 – first inspection the day of the complaint:
- Unauthorised works in progress to a listed building;
 - Unauthorised works in progress to a protected tree.
- 5.6 Priority 2 - first inspection within 2 working days of receipt:
- Unauthorised demolition or partial demolition of a building which is considered essential to retain;
 - Unauthorised development which has been undetected and where the time limit for enforcement action will expire within the following six months; or
 - Use of land causing serious harm to the locality or the natural environment.
- 5.7 Priority 3 – first inspection within 7 working days of receipt:
- Any unauthorised development or non-compliance with a planning agreement, which is causing harm; or
 - Unauthorised development in a Conservation Area.
- 5.8 Priority 4 – First inspection within 10 working days of receipt:
- Display of illegal advertisements;
 - All other complaints relating to unauthorised development not falling in any of the above categories; or
 - Untidy land.

6.0 HOW WE WILL INVESTIGATE A COMPLAINT

6.1 We will acknowledge all requests for planning enforcement investigations in writing within three working days of receiving it. We will visit all sites within the period set out above for each of the four priorities. Wherever possible we will visit high priority investigations on the same day that we receive the request.

6.2 No Breach And No Further Action

6.2.1 After undertaking an investigation we may decide not to take any further action. This might be because the breach is too minor, or because there is no breach of planning control. Alternatively, the works might be within the amount of development which can be carried out without planning permission (The exact detail of what is 'permitted development' are set out by Central Government in the Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) Order 1995).

6.2.2 Similarly, we may decide not to pursue an enforcement investigation, even if there is a clear breach of planning control, because it is 'not expedient' to take action. This might be because although the breach is more than just a minor or technical breach, the harm it causes is not significant, and in our opinion formal action would not be in the public interest. In reaching such a decision we must balance the harm being caused against the likely success of any formal action, the availability of resources, and other cases that might be causing a greater level of harm but whose progress might be delayed as a result. In both these circumstances we will close the case file and notify in writing everyone who has been involved in the investigation. We will also, without prejudice to the outcome, notify the owner so that they can make an application to seek regularisation.

6.2.3 The time it takes to resolve each enforcement investigation will vary depending on:

- The nature of the concerns;
- The extent of investigations that need to be carried out;
- The harm which is being caused; and
- The resources that are available.

6.2.4 Where we serve an enforcement notice there is a right of appeal, which will add several months to the timescale. Therefore, it is not possible to give an average time for resolving an investigation. In all cases we will write to you within 20 working days to tell you the results of our investigation and tell you what will happen next. We will keep you informed throughout the process in writing at key stages.

7.0 ENFORCEMENT ACTION WE CAN USE

7.1 After we have received a complaint and undertaken an investigation and established that there is a breach of planning control, we have a number of formal options available to assist in resolving the breach. Not all options will be suitable in each case. Some actions will need to be authorised by the Development Control and Licensing Committee, whilst others can be authorised by officers. For details please see the Council's Constitution. The following link takes you to the relevant pages. Scheme of Delegation - Development Control

7.2 Breach of Condition Notice (BCN)

We can serve a BCN on the developer or occupier when they do not comply with conditions imposed on a planning permission. If they do not comply with the requirements of the BCN we can take legal action. It can only be used to secure compliance. It does not apply to breaches of control related to listed buildings, advertisements or protected trees. We will use this procedure in preference to the service of Enforcement Notices where appropriate. It is a criminal offence to fail to comply with a BCN within the period for compliance specified.

7.3 Enforcement Notice

We will serve this when we are satisfied that there has been a breach of planning control and that it is appropriate to take action. With an enforcement notice the recipient(s) must take the specific steps with a set time period. Failure to comply with a notice is a criminal offence. The recipient(s) of a notice have a right of appeal to the Secretary of State through the Planning Inspectorate. An appeal suspends the effect of the notice until it is determined. If the recipient(s) lodge an appeal we will tell all objectors and neighbours of the appeal and how they can make representations to the Planning Inspectorate. Any representations are available for public inspection.

7.4 Injunction

We can apply to the County Court or High Court for an injunction to stop an actual or imminent breach of planning or listed building control, even when the identity of the person is unknown. We can seek an injunction whether or not other enforcement action(s) have been taken. Failure to comply with an injunction can lead to an unlimited fine and/or imprisonment.

7.5 Planning Contravention Notice

This is the main method for local councils to obtain information on a suspected unauthorised development. It will usually set out a list of questions about the site/development. We can offer a formal meeting to allow additional oral information to be given. It is an offence to fail to comply with the requirements of the notice within the period set for its return, or to make false or misleading statements in reply.

7.6 Section 215 Notices

We can serve these in relation to untidy land or buildings when the condition of land or buildings negatively affects the amenity of an area. This requires the owners and occupiers of the land to take specific steps to secure an improvement in its appearance. Recipient(s) have a right of appeal to a magistrates' court if they consider the serving of the notice is unjustified. Failure to comply with the notice is an offence. We may also do the works ourselves and charge the owners

7.7 Section 330 Town and Country Planning Act 1990

We use this power to get information, usually at an early stage of the enforcement process. It involves serving a Notice on occupiers of premises and/or persons receiving rent. It is an offence to fail to comply with the requirements of the Notice within the period set for its return, or to make false or misleading statements in reply.

7.8 Stop Notice

We can serve these with an Enforcement Notice, or after we have served an Enforcement Notice if we consider that continuing unauthorised development is causing irreparable and immediate significant harm. The Stop Notice continues to take effect even if an appeal is lodged against the Enforcement Notice. The Stop Notice does not usually come into effect until three days after we have served it, although we can reduce this period if necessary. Work must stop immediately the Notice comes into effect. There are compensation liabilities if the Enforcement Notice is quashed, but these are not related to the planning merits of the case. There is no right of appeal; failure to comply with the notice is an offence.

7.9 Temporary Stop Notice

We can serve these where we consider that there has been a breach of planning control, and it is necessary to stop the activity or development in question immediately to safeguard the amenity of the area. This differs from the normal Stop Notice powers as it is immediate and does not have to be accompanied by an Enforcement Notice. In addition it is temporary and only lasts for 28 days. There is no right of appeal to the Secretary of State. A judicial review can challenge the validity and propriety of our decision.

7.10 Prosecution

We can commence Court proceedings where a formal notice has been breached. In addition, in some instances we can commence legal proceedings for unauthorised works without the need to serve any formal Notices, e.g. unauthorised works to a listed building or a protected tree, or an unauthorised advertisement. These proceedings can include:

- a prosecution; and
- a formal caution – this is a formal process where you formally admit the offence. It may be referred to at the sentencing stage if you are ever found guilty of a subsequent offence. We may also take it into consideration when we decide whether or not to prosecute at a later stage for another similar offence.

In order to bring a successful prosecution, we must be able to prove that:

- the building or tree was protected;
- there has been a breach of a formal notice (Listed Buildings);
- who has carried out, caused, or permitted the works (Listed Buildings or Protected Trees);
- the works were carried out without our consent (Listed Buildings or Protected Trees); or
- the works were not exempt works (Listed Building or Protected Trees).

We will apply two tests in cases where a prosecution appears likely, consideration of which will be done in consultation with our legal advisors.

7.11 The Evidential Test:

We will not start a prosecution unless there is sufficient, admissible and reliable evidence that the offence has been committed, and that there is a reasonable prospect of conviction.

7.12 The Public Interest Test:

We will only bring a prosecution where this is in the public interest. We may apply cautioning in cases where a prosecution can properly be brought, but where we do not consider such action is appropriate in the circumstances of the case. We will use cautions in accordance with Home Office guidance. People who have previously received a formal caution will normally be dealt with by prosecution.

7.13 Direct Action

We do have the power, in special circumstances and as a last resort, to make sure an enforcement notice is complied with by carrying out the required steps ourselves in default of the owner or occupier's action. We can recover all the cost incurred from the owner. Where we cannot immediately recover costs we will register a charge on the property with the Land Registry, thus assuring full cost recovery plus base-rate interest.

8.0 WHAT YOU CAN DO IF A COMPLAINT IS MADE ABOUT YOUR DEVELOPMENT

- 8.1 We understand that in many cases a breach of planning is not intentional and can be the result of a misunderstanding or a person being unaware of the planning requirements. Therefore, if you receive a letter from us or a visit from an enforcement officer, we encourage you to respond positively and provide the information which we need to resolve the matter. It is beneficial to all parties if any breach is addressed at an early stage. In some cases a request to investigate may be made against your property. If it is possible to investigate the concerns without disturbing you and establish that there is no breach of planning control, we will not contact you.
- 8.2 Depending upon the level of harm being caused we will be prepared to discuss with you what alternative solutions might be acceptable, rather than the complete removal or rebuilding of the development. However, this approach will not mean that you can delay any response or action that you have agreed to do. We expect you to respond within the stated timescales and we will pursue prosecutions for non-responses to formal notices. We will not allow long drawn out negotiations to hold back the taking of action. In many cases, particularly where the works are likely to be acceptable, perhaps with some minor changes, we will give an opportunity to submit a retrospective application. This is so that we can consider the development in more detail and, if appropriate, control it through planning conditions.
- 8.3 You should be aware that development which required but does not have planning permission is unauthorised, and remains subject to potential enforcement action for a set number of years. In the case of building works, or the use of a building for living accommodation, the time period is four years after completing the works or occupying the accommodation. Where the breach is an unauthorised change of use of land or buildings, or is the breach of a planning condition, the time period is ten years.
- 8.4 If you subsequently wish to sell a property, which has been subject to unauthorised works or a change of use, you may find the sale is delayed or lost as a result. You should also be aware that we usually make mortgage providers aware of breaches of planning permission and we will send them a copy of any formal notice or decision about planning enforcement. Within the Council, the Planning Service advises the Land Charges section of those sites where formal notices have been served, decisions have been made and where potential enforcement action remains outstanding.
- 8.5 Our planning enforcement staff will make themselves known to the landowner/developer when they enter a site, but it is not always appropriate or possible to give advance warning of a site visit. Enforcement officers are legally entitled to enter land and property. You do not have to be there for an enforcement officer to enter onto your land and make a site visit. If it is necessary to enter your house, (as opposed to just the garden) you are entitled to 24 hours notice.

Annex 1

- 8.6 If you actively prevent an enforcement officer from entering onto your land we will get a warrant to enter the site. Once we have secured a warrant, any obstruction to access the site will be considered a criminal offence.
- 8.7 We will use the information we get from a site visit to help assess the harm being caused and what further action we may need to take. Allowing the enforcement officer to make a site visit and take photographs will help to reduce time delays and any potential inconvenience. Most decisions to serve a formal notice are authorised by the Development Control and Licensing Committee, a very few are made by a senior officer with the involvement of the enforcement officer.
- 8.8 Enforcement staff will be happy to explain the different notices and to help you understand the implications. However, enforcement staff will not act as your advisor and cannot make decisions on your behalf. You should consider whether you wish to get your own independent advice from a qualified planning consultant or another appropriate property professional. If you cannot afford to employ a consultant you can contact Planning Aid. Planning Aid is a voluntary service which offers free independent, professional advice.

9.0 ENFORCEMENT OF TREE PRESERVATION ORDERS OR CONSERVATION AREA TREES

9.1 Trees that are the subject of a Tree Preservation Order or trees that are within a conservation area are protected by planning legislation. In general, you need to get authorisation from us before you do any work. This includes cutting down, uprooting, lopping or topping. It is a criminal offence to wilfully damage or wilfully destroy a protected tree.

9.2 There are two offences which apply when a protected tree is damaged or destroyed:

- Anyone who cuts down, uproots or wilfully destroys a tree, or who lops, tops or wilfully damages it in any way that is likely to destroy it, is liable, if convicted in the Magistrates Court, to a fine of up to £20,000 (the fine is unlimited if there is a trial in the Crown Court). The Courts have decided that it is not necessary for a tree to have been rendered useless as an amenity; and
- Anyone who does unauthorised works on a tree that are not likely to destroy it is liable, if convicted in the Magistrates Court, to a fine of up to £2,500.

9.3 Any proceedings for these offences must be brought within six months of the date the offence was committed.

9.4 Investigations

The initial investigation will be a check to establish:

- whether the tree is protected;
- whether any consent or permission has been granted; and
- who is doing the work.

A site visit will also be carried out.

9.5 If You Do Unauthorised Works

9.5.1 As with planning enforcement complaints, officers investigating unauthorised works to protected trees have a right to enter land to carry out investigations and will take photographs that may be used as evidence later.

9.5.2 You will be given an opportunity to give your version of events during the investigation. However, if it appears that you did the works then you will be cautioned because you may have committed a criminal offence. The caution will be issued by officers under the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984.

9.5.3 If you remove a tree through unauthorised works (or because it is dead, dying or dangerous – remember that the onus is on those carrying out the work to prove that the tree was in such a condition as to warrant its removal), you have an automatic duty as the landowner to plant a replacement tree of a suitable size and species at the same place as soon as reasonably possible (unless we waive the requirement).

9.5.4 The replacement tree is then subject to the same protection as the tree that was lost. We can serve a Tree Replacement Notice within a period of four years to make sure you comply. There are rights of appeal against Tree Replacement Notices.

9.6 Our Considerations Whether or Not to Take Action

9.6.1 We will make decisions as to what action to take in cases of unauthorised works on trees based on the public interest test. Each case will be considered on its own merits. We would not normally bring a prosecution unless the unauthorised works have resulted in a loss of public amenity. In most cases we will not normally bring a prosecution if we would have granted consent (or raised no objection) for the works done had you applied for it.

9.6.2 In considering whether to bring prosecution, we will have regard to the likelihood of you repeating the offence and the degree to which a prosecution would act as an effective deterrent. We will also have regard to any financial advantage perceived to have been gained by carrying out the unauthorised works, and whether you have been prosecuted, cautioned or warned for similar offences in the past.

9.6.3 We can take into account any expression of regret, helpfulness and co-operation with the investigation and also any indication that you were acting in good faith.

9.6.4 We will normally require the planting of replacement trees, irrespective of whether you have been prosecuted or cautioned. When we require replacement planting, we will monitor to make sure it is done. If necessary we can serve a replanting notice to secure replacement planting, which can be invoked if the landowner does not voluntarily carry out replacement planting.

10.0 UNTIDY LAND OR BUILDINGS (SECTION 215 NOTICES)

10.1 Under Section 215 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 we have the power to require an owner/occupier to carry out improvement works to their land or building if the condition of the land or building is causing harm to the amenity of an area.

10.2 It is our decision whether the extent of any harm to amenity of the area is serious enough to justify the service of a Notice requiring the site to be cleaned up. The Notice will specify exactly what steps the owner must carry out to improve the site. In assessing the harm, we will consider both the site and its surroundings.

10.3 Where We Will Serve Notices

10.3.1 As with all enforcement investigations, we will allocate resources where they can be most effective and where the greatest harm is being caused. We will not use these Notices where there are more specific powers available to address the concern.

10.3.2 It is likely we will use a Section 215 Notice in connection with a prominent and derelict site, particularly if it has started to attract fly tipping, or an important town centre street frontage that has fallen into disrepair, particularly if it falls within a Conservation Area. We would also serve a Notice where the condition of a piece of land impacts upon the wider landscape.

10.3.3 If a residential property is particularly run down, or a garden is overgrown, or cars/domestic items are being left in the garden to rot, then we can serve a Section 215 Notice. However, our policy is that a garden which is merely untended, or a house that needs some cosmetic maintenance, for example, where a window or window frame needs to be replaced, would not qualify for a Section 215 Notice.

10.3.4 We cannot normally serve a Section 215 Notice on a site which is untidy as a result of building works that have planning permission.

10.4 Scope of The Notice

10.4.1 The scope of works that can be required in Section 215 Notices is wide and includes planting, clearance, tidying, enclosure, demolition, re-building, external repairs and repainting.

10.4.2 If it is necessary for the improvements to involve work which would normally require planning permission, for example the re-building of a garage, then we will not be able to cover these works in a Section 215 Notice. In such cases, we would require a separate planning permission and therefore the use of other enforcement powers may be more appropriate.

10.5 Action Available to Us

10.5.1 We will write to the owner before serving a Section 215 Notice advising that it will be served unless the site is tidied up.

10.5.2 Where a Notice becomes effective but it is not complied with, we will explain the action the Council can take which could involve:

- direct action where we will carry out the works ourselves and charge the owner for all costs incurred; or
- prosecution in the Magistrates Court. A successful prosecution may result in a fine of up to £2,000 and a criminal record.

10.5.3 The course of action will vary from site to site, and in some cases we can pursue both direct action and a prosecution. Where we cannot immediately recover cost we will register a charge on the property with the Land Registry, thus assuring full costs recovery plus base-rate interest.

Appendix 1

Rutland County Council District Council Planning Enforcement Prioritisation Scheme

Purpose

This document sets out the Council's Planning Enforcement Prioritisation Scheme in relation to the handling of allegations concerning a breach of planning control. It assesses the planning harm that a contravention is perceived to cause and provides a process for the 'closure' of some minor breaches of planning control.

Background

In the past when the Council considered an alleged breach of planning control, the case was not closed until the breach of planning control was rectified. This resulted in the Enforcement Officer continuing to use resources to pursue some minor breaches of planning control that were not causing harm to public amenity and/or interest. A more efficient and effective approach is required.

The Scheme

The Prioritisation Scheme is applied to cases which are found to be a breach of planning control following an initial site inspection. The scheme grades the 'harm' of that breach against a series of scored criteria. The agreed level of material harm is a score of 4 and above based on comparative scheme elsewhere. Where the cumulative score is 3 and under it is not considered to be expedient to pursue the breach as the impact on public amenity and/or interest will be small or negligible. In these instances the case will be closed and advisory letters will be sent to both the offender and the complainant. The property owner will also be advised of the need to rectify the situation, most usually through the submission of a retrospective planning application, as the breach that has occurred could affect any future sale. Once all parties have been notified the Council will take no further action. This will not apply to those cases with a score of 3 or less where it is assessed by the Enforcement Officer that the breach is unlikely to receive an unconditional grant of planning permission. In these circumstances the breach will be pursued to a successful conclusion in the normal way.

Breaches of planning control that attract a score of 4 or more will be pursued by officers until matters are resolved either through negotiation or by taking formal action.

The Prioritisation scheme will be applied to all cases involving development. Advertisement Control, Amenity Notices and Tree/Hedgerow matters have different legislative requirements and will be dealt with separately. Sixteen planning 'harm' factors are set out in the Prioritisation Form dealing with factors such as, the nature of the breach, safety issues, policy matters, degree of harm etc.

Operational Aspects

The 'Prioritisation Form' will be completed by the Enforcement Officer within 20 working days of receipt of an enquiry. Where the alleged breach relates to a change of use of land the site should be visited a minimum of three times in that twenty day period (if necessary) to establish if a breach of control is occurring (if the initial or second visit are inconclusive).

Conclusion

The Prioritisation Scheme provides:

- A quantitative and qualitative assessment of the harm to public amenity/interest;
- An open and transparent procedure;
- A quick and effective processing of cases;
- A flexible system to make efficient use of resources; and
- Equality of treatment of dealing with cases.

PRIORITISATION FORM

TO BE COMPLETED BY AN OFFICER WHO HAS INSPECTED THE DEVELOPMENT

All retrospective refusals of planning permission will automatically receive a full investigation – do not complete form.

Each new complaint will be allocated scores as set out below to assess its harm. The total will provide its harm score on which its priority will be based. Where there is no breach of planning control found, the file will be closed accordingly.
